November 17, 1939 - January 28, 2026

Doyle Dwight Jordan, 86, of Odessa, Texas, passed away on January 28, 2026, at Parks Nursing Home in Odessa.

Born on November 17, 1939, in San Benito, Texas, Doyle lived a life shaped by creativity, innovation, and perseverance. He was a talented sculptor who found deep fulfillment in creating bronze wildlife sculptures, capturing the spirit and beauty of the natural world in enduring works of art.

In addition to his artistic pursuits, Doyle was an inventive problem-solver. He developed a computer program that improved oil measurement and gauging processes, saving oil companies significant resources. He dedicated much of his career to Pioneer Natural Resources, where he was a respected and valued team member until his retirement at the age of 75.

In 1983, Doyle married Lucille Marie Jordan in Midland, Texas. Their enduring bond was marked by love, loyalty, and shared purpose. Lucille passed away just three days after Doyle, on January 31, 2026—a quiet reflection of the deep connection they shared.

Doyle was preceded in death by his parents, Dwight W. Jordan and Hazel Dorothy Jordan.

He is survived by his children: Patricia Probandt, Marchelle Blankek, Doyle D. Jordan Jr., and Eddie Jordan; and by his stepchildren: Michele Floyd, La Sandra Gail Armistead, and Willis Edwards.

A memorial service will be held on February 16, 2026, at 2:00 p.m. at American Heritage Funeral Home, followed by burial at American Heritage Cemetery, where Doyle will be laid to rest beside his beloved wife, Lucille Jordan.

Doyle will be remembered for his artistic spirit, innovative mind, and quiet strength. His legacy lives on through his sculptures, his contributions to the oil industry, and the many lives he touched.
