“ Me and Johnny used to work together for many years. I owe a lot of my electrical knowledge, life knowledge and just general knowledge of stuff to him. He was good guy, tough on ya in the field but only because he wanted the best. You will be missed my friend, go rest high on that mountain... well take the watch from here. Anthony Malone

“ Its been an honor knowing Johnny all these years at the Sandhills Stock Show and Rodeo, and to call him a friend! I remember one year where i was helping OC rodeo with our holding pens and i didnt know how it went together as well as i thought i did, i called Johnny and he said i'll be there in 10 minutes. Thats what i will always remember most about Johnny is he was quick to help me when i needed it or good to let me borrow a tool if i needed something. I borrowed a pair of linemans pliers on tear down and forgot to give them back before i left, but it took all the way to the board of directors meeting till i got them back, but i promised i wouldnt loose them and i would make sure i did, he laughed at me when i finally got them back to him for keeping up with it so long. I'll miss joking and cutting up with you my friend! A good friend told me that the rodeo was like a puddle, you stick you finger in and make some ripples, but when you pull your finger back out it returns back to smooth, there will be a void there that will never be forgotten, and i for one will not forget the ripples you made!

“ Im very sorry to hear about this, our paths crossed over the years of us being in the same trade. I remember him coming to work where I worked at Sun Electric and I thought this is great. He’s one person that could take a job handle. It start to finish and not have any worries about what he was doing. He was a great electrician. God bless him and the families loss rest in peace, buddy
