“ He was a rock of a husband to me when we were married, and a step parent to Kennesha during her youth. He was the kind of man who always could make you smile with his sense of humor. I will always treasure the memories of our love in my heart, And the snowball fights in North Carolina snow of 89 will always bring a giggle to me. Fly high with the angels and GO REST HIGH ON THAT MOUNTAIN. God bless and keep the kids safe.
