“ There are no words to convey the overwhelming grief it gives me knowing this world will be without your smile. Your heart was full of kindness and understanding. You always found a way to smile and care for others more than yourself. You never made it about you and despite the cards you were given you found a way to make something from nothing even if were for someone else. I wish I had done more for you. I could have been a better Uncle. I hope to see you again one day in Heaven. Rest in peace Marcus Lee Winstead.

This woman right here is pure evil how dare her try to pretend that my son is hers disrespect me call me out my name accuse me of being responsible for his death even though he was in her care baby you should listen to the message and not the messenger life will teach you to tumble yourself I'm just saddened that had to be my son that was in your path of destruction because you're so narrow minded and evil what kind of mother would do such a thing to another mother and you are evil because you played like you gave a damn and you were just a snake in the grass that's why we often and laughed at you because we knew how evil and how misfortune your true intentions were that's why we were we were unbothered by you but God is going to bless me and my children cuz he knows our heart and he knows what we went through in this lifetime so we are truly blessed and I am humble for that so thank you Jesus and I forgive you as ugly and evil as you are I can't be narrow-minded like yourself cuz I'm trying to get my way to heaven not go downstairs like you thank you Lord amen
