“ When I heard the news that your mommy was expecting I was so excited another grandbaby. Yes we were going to find out your gender but only God knows why you couldn't enter in the world and he needed you more. I was sad because we found out you were a boy and your mommy put your name Oscar after your grandpa in which your grandpa I know he is up in heaven smiling and talking to you and holding you and your brother Ezra in his arms playing with you. Love you my baby Angels till we meet you one day. 🥹❤️

“ I remember your Daddy and I were surprised to find out that you were going to enter our lives. It was unexpected, but we were excited for your arrival! I was nervous, but couldn't wait for you to be here. On Thursday 10-4-24 we were on our way to do labs for genetic testing and also to find out your gender. Little did I know our lives and fate were going to change. The doctor was doing a sonogram whenever she noticed that your heart wasn't beating anymore and that there was no movement coming from you. When I heard the news I just broke down and cried. I tried so hard to follow doctors orders and take all the medicine and shots that I could so this wouldn't happen. But for some reason that wasn't enough and God and all his angels needed you more in heaven. We miss you so much baby Oscar and you will forever be in our hearts. Mommy, Daddy, sister, and brother love you so much. Give your grandpa Oscar, great grandma Augustina, and your angel siblings a big ol hug and kiss for us. Until we meet again my little Ray of sunshine. Love, mommy. 💜
