*You never heard, “that Pat Horner, oh I don’t care for him”...that’s because he was THAT guy. The guy that everyone got along with. He disliked conflict, said arguing never really accomplished anything . As his daughter, I never heard him raise his voice, cuss or talk down anyone. He found the positive in every bad or troubling situation. He was tender of heart, kind, forgiving and had a willingness to show grace without practice. He was not perfect, and would be the first to tell you so, and humility was his. Gone too soon, but not without a legacy of what a “good man” should live like.
Love you always, Dad. No matter what ❤️*

“ There was never a person in the world that said, “that Pat Horner, I don’t care for him.” That is because he was that guy that everyone liked. He was easy to get along with and always kind to everyone. As his daughter, I never heard him raise his voice, cuss or be harsh to any one person. He was tender, forgiving, and showed grace even in the toughest of times.
 He had a smile that lit up his entire face as it was shared so freely in such a pure and genuine way.
 Gone too soon. Until I see you again, dad.....❤️

I remember the first time I met Pat I met Pat in a parking lot with his wife bringing in her birthday cake and flowers and he also brought in all the food you can imagine to eat all the barbecue he got upset because I didn't wanna eat . threw our time as friends as I got to know pat I was the lucky one. Pat was nice he was a gentle soul he would make you laugh but he also told you the truth he told you like it was. I know for a fact that he loved his wife he cherished the ground did she walked on his wife dementia was everything to him he told me once that he was the luckiest man to be alive and to be married to her he said George you have no idea what I have I am a millionaire because I have the best wife and great kids and good good friends. I have everything that a man could ever want And as I said I was the lucky one because I was blessed to have Patrick as my friend you will be missed God bless you and may God keep you safe I know you're not in pain please watch over your wife and your kids and your friends now that you're in heaven making room for us love you buddy
