“ There were so many great memories of you that I can not choose one. Everything about you was amazing. I can truly say you were someone that lived in the moment. I am going to miss your beautiful laugh that echoed throughout rooms and your bright smile that could not be overlooked. Lets not forget to mention how you thought everything was funny (even if it was not funny). You gave life meaning and taught me how to not worry about the little things. You will always be apart of me and my children. You will live through us forever and ever. I could not of asked God for anyone more magnificent than you to be my mother. I love you Mom.

Your daughter Brigitte.

“ We might have been 100’s of miles apart and only visited just a handful of times once we each had our own families, but we had plenty of silly little girl memories. We used to sneak up late at night and pretend to be elves. We would clean , dust , iron & believe it or not it was all her idea! She always dreamt of a big family! She loved each of you... before you were even you. She prayed for her children while she was a child her self! Never doubt her love!
