I picked the purple candle because when I saw her for family gathering a few times she was wearing purple and I thought it looked so good on her. she was so caring and always thought of others first. For Christmas one year she made us a photo gallery with the letter H for our last name and included our pictures and pictures on my mom and dad. Then another time she bought me and my sister a necklace with 2 sister hugging each other during the time my sister Shawna was dealing with brain cancer, and she bought by granddaughter a purse one year and that she just loves and still carries.
