“ I remember you as a young child, I use to have a booth at the flea market. You came to visit with your grandma Helga. My daughter was younger than you and you just started talking to her like you knew her forever. You wanted her to ride the train with you. That image stayed in my head every time I heard your name. You were not shy to approach us. This breaks my heart to hear you go. You were way too young, but I know God wanted you right next to him, your dad and your baby half brother. May you rest in peace!
